

Grave markers, 14 of them, stand in the cemetery on hill east of the Carbon county town.

John C. Staley, with his wife, stand in front of his house in Scofield. He is a survivor of the explosion and can remember vividly its aftermath. He was about to enter the mine when a great blast stopped him at the entrance.

of 1900

v. high in Carbon

